

All Gone Bye Bye

Words and music by Jenica Rayne © 1999

do you think
we'll meet again
i heard a mother cry
when she watched her baby fly do you think that we planned it this way?
what have i to learn?
i guess i'm learning everyday

but it's over now
all those dreams and memories
that seem lost somehow
they're all over now
all gone bye bye

and all the judgments
we've laid down
have come to haunt our door
say, who am I to judge you i won't do that anymore i walked to a river
and i sat down on the sand i thought about wisdom
i tried to figure out
the master plan

that seem lost somehow
they're all over now
all gone bye bye

all the thoughts
inside your head
still raw with the regards saying good bye
can be so very hard
and all those nights
that we sat alone

we look into the sky
and think of it as home

it can't be over now it's just dreams and memories
that seem lost somehow
it's not over now
we'll meet again
i heard a mother cry
all gone bye bye
