

Living In The Dark

Words and music by Jenica Rayne © 2014

another season
wore us down
must be all the rain we get in this coastal town
what happened to love
in the thick of all of this
what happened to love
did we forget about it

we forget about it
you lied cause you're afraid to tell the truth and of living in the dark
your heart is aching too but i never see that part distance grows between us anger fills the air
we're spinning
spinning circles
but we are getting anywhere
what happened to love

fingers pointed
there at you and they're at me who's to blame and
who's the enemy
we are not enemies
we are not enemies

hey wait a minute
before you slam that door
we're parting ways
yeah
it's all been done before i see through you and you can see through me
to err is human forgive and be free

fingers pointed

there at you and they're at me
who's to blame and
who's the enemy
we are not enemies
we are not enemies